

Peter & Cynn timer Kellogg

and

Lou & Kathy Esposito

Blake & Cathy Ellman

cordially invite you to join them at

Open
HAT BOTTLE
Night

Saturday, February 22, 2025, 6:00 p.m.

The Crow's Nest Event Center at historic Hudson Farm

Open
HAT BOTTLE
Night

Hosted by

Hudson Farm

Featuring a Charity Auction with Ted Tafaro

Bring your own special bottles of wine to open and share the stories behind them while you enjoy live music, hors d'oeuvres and a delicious gourmet dinner followed by a delectable dessert.

Proceeds benefit the programs and services of

Project Self-Sufficiency Open That Bottle Night History

Open That Bottle Night was created by husband-and-wife team Dorothy J. Gaiter and John Brecher, known for their 'Tastings' column in 'The Wall Street Journal.' The concept was simple: Instead of waiting, create an occasion to open and share that special bottle of wine you've been saving.

Since its inauguration in 2000, Open That Bottle Night has become a global phenomenon celebrated every year on the last Saturday of February.

Project Self-Sufficiency's version of Open That Bottle Night takes place at historic Hudson Farm, where guests' special wines are paired with a multi-course gourmet meal, music and entertainment to raise funds for services empowering families to attain self-sufficiency. We invite you to join us. Bring your own special bottle (and the story behind it) to share!